New Trees Transform Hartford Parish into Peaceful Community Gathering Space

- Story by Karen A. Avitabile

St. Justin-St. Michael Parish in Hartford recently beautified its grounds by planting some 25 trees. The enhanced landscape now invites the community to linger, offering a peaceful setting for passersby to rest on the grass or connect with loved ones and friends.

The new trees planted on the church and rectory grounds, at 230 Blue Hills Ave., were a donation through Trees for Hartford program offered in the city of Hartford to property owners in several neighborhoods including Blue Hills, Northeast, Upper Albany, Asylum Hill, Clay Arsenal, Parkville, Frog Hollow, Barry Square, South Green and Sheldon-Charter Oak.

The recent church tree plantings served as a core component of Hartford's citywide Arbor Day and Earth Month celebrations. These efforts are part of a broader, multi-year plan to expand the city's urban tree canopy and mitigate the impacts of climate change.

Administered as part of a four-year urban forestry program, the initiative will enhance neighborhood green spaces. To date, Hartford property owners have successfully planted more than 250 trees citywide, contributing directly to the city's long-term environmental sustainability goals.

On April 25, the community of St. Justin-St. Michael Church, including parishioners and nearly 50 faith formation students, volunteered to plant trees on the church grounds. In addition to planting, participants learned about tree care, applied mulch and watered the new trees.

Father Mathieu Isaac, pastor of St. Michael-St. Justin Parish, cherishes the trees for their deeper significance, viewing them as a meaningful connection to his mother and father.

"My parents were farmers," he says. "I grew up in a rural region where trees of different varieties, such as mango trees, avocado trees and many others formed my natural environment. It therefore seemed entirely natural for me to adapt to a setting where the surrounding vegetation helps reveal the beauty of the place. That is why I volunteered to adopt some trees in our church garden."

As an extension of the Capital Forest Stewardship Initiative, Trees for Hartford benefits from an estimated

$6 million investment provided by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Urban and Community Forestry Program. The program targets the planting of 1,225 free trees across public and private Hartford spaces, supported by ongoing community education and tree maintenance.

During the summer, parish youth are tasked with tree irrigation several times a week.

"These trees will provide a conducive setting for people going through stressful times, allowing them to come and meditate, pray or take a walk in a peaceful space, amidst the restorative atmosphere offered by the St. Justin-St. Michael site," Father Isaac says.

In April, hardworking volunteers of St. Justin-St. Michael Parish helped add new greenery to the church and rectory grounds. They pause for a photo after doing their work.
